ABSTRACT

In general, various methods, apparatuses, and systems that generate an augmented repair signature to repair all of the defects detected in a first test of a memory as well as in a second test of the memory.